The library computerisation

Introduction

The library is an essential part of every educational establishment. It is used both by students and teachers. Therefore, the library must be in a very good condition and provided with everything that visitors need. I would like to suggest some new ideas.

The new service

We live in the 21 century where <sup>the</sup> computer technologies are used not only in some particular spheres like medicine or economics but also in our everyday life. That is why I think it will be great for the library to have its own electronic books.

Organisational moments

For the realization of this project a big number of electronic books should be bought. Also, the librarians must learn how to use the computer and other gadgets if they don't know yet.

The benefits of the project.

The main advantage of using the electronic books is that it contains absolutely every kind of literature the reader wants. Everybody knows that the library can not provide their visitors with every book they need. In addition, some students do not like reading paper books because it is not comfortable to take it outdoors but at the same time they cannot afford electronic ones. The best solution for them is to borrow ~~devices~~ electronic devices from the library. All this points will definitely increase the number of reading students.
