My proposal

Introduction

I find myself visiting the school library very often during break in between lessons. I think that my time spent at the library is time spent well. However, our library has its flaws, and that is the lack of activities, which makes it a bit boring.

My suggestions

I feel like every library needs more services instead of just reading and renting books. Board games could make a really good addition to our library. There could be different kinds of board games, such as chess, checkers, dominos, and monopoly, just to name a few.

Realization

I think that it won't require that much resources. All it would need is a bit of funding and permission from the management. Such a small project with little planning would bring a lot of good.

Benefits

Considering the variety of board games in the project would bring a lot of benefits. For example, chess can improve strategic thinking, dominos and checkers can improve your view on the bigger picture. The more and the harder the better, as it could lead to better development of our brain.

Conclusion

In conclusion I think that these additions would improve the current state and popularity of our library as a hub for reading and socializing, as well as finding people with the same interests as you.
