New service

As you know, our library is about to be expanded and I want to suggest some new service which the library could provide after the expansion.

Punc

My suggestion

I think that in the new expanded library should be a cafeteria, because it will be really convenient. The need for it is already proven, because when I asked my classmates and other students if they've ever felt hungry while in the library reading books, almost all of them said yes. They also said that it would be really handy if there could be a place to eat, so that if they ever feel hungry, they could easily go and eat some food.

G

Organizational arrangements.

To bring this project to life, we'll need a lot of money. To raise the needed amount, we should organize a money gathering event to attract students to give the money. While this is being done, we should organize a crew of designers and builders to design and build the cafeteria after collecting the money.

Lex

Why is it beneficial?

Having a cafeteria in the library will attract more students to go there, which can result in more people reading more books, and that's always good! Also, you can't really read on an empty stomach, but with the new cafeteria, you can have lunch and enjoy your favourite book with your favourite meal. This will result in more students being comfortable and happy in the library. And what can be better for a school than happy students?

Lex

Conclusion

That's why we should build a cafeteria in the expanded library. I hope that this project will be done soon, because the students really have the need for it.
