JB: Thanks for such a warm welcome! Since I am a writer, you could probably guess why I am here. I am writing a book of course! It will be a book for children.

I: That is great! We all cannot wait to read another one of your books. But, how is writing a book for children and returning to our hometown related? Does the story take place in the town?

JB: You are exactly right. Not many people know, but our hometown was the birthplace of a great scientist - Ernest Alstein! He will be one of the main characters. I will accurately portray his childhood in this town.

I: Wow, that is news to me! Thanks for revealing to us these details about your upcoming book. Now, a long time has passed since the last time you have been in your hometown, and lots of things changed. How do you feel about the changes?

JB: Well, I think the town surely got more lively and green. I think it changed for the better. I: Would you live in it, then? JB: Sadly, partly

my answer is no. While it did change for the better, I still prefer living in a big city. I: Alright. How long do you plan on staying in the town? JB: Roughly a year. That is how long I will be writing my book for. I: Wow, that's a lot of time! Thank you for these answers, JB, it was a pleasure interviewing you.
